

Biotechnology Undergraduate Program 25th Anniversary Colloquium

April 1, 2016, Trayes Hall, Rutgers University

Please join us as we celebrate with alumni, students and industry by listening to presentations from alumni speakers and panelists who have made significant contributions to the field of biotechnology. Our keynote speaker, alumnus Dennis Fenton, will present on his career from Rutgers Graduate School to Executive Vice President of Amgen. Our alumni will speak about their experiences as rising leaders in industry at BASF, Illumina, Regeneron, Bristol-Myers Squibb; in protecting our biosecurity and food at the US CDC and US FDA; and in educating our next generation of college students and medical doctors. A panel of industry leaders from Sanofi-Pasteur, Merck, GENEWIZ, and Johnson and Johnson will share with the audience their projections for the future in the rapidly advancing field of biotechnology.

Sponsorships are welcome and necessary to offer a world class colloquium free and open to the community. If sponsorships exceed the event costs, the remaining funds will support an Undergraduate Research Enrichment Fund. For questions about sponsorships or the enrichment fund please contact Rachel Karl at rachel.karl@rutgers.edu (848) 932-3593.

Sponsorships are considered gifts and are tax deductible under the Rutgers University Foundation 501(c)3 (less the price of included dinner tickets).
