

q-bio

The q-bio community emphasizes the integration of theory, computation and quantitative experimentation to understand, predict, and control biological phenomena.

The summer meeting has a single track program including opening and closing banquets, plenary talks, contributed talks (25+), poster spotlight (16+), two evening poster sessions, discussions framing grand challenges, and opportunities for networking and fostering collaborations. The structure of the meeting and its coordination with the q-bio summer schools promotes rich interactions among students, postdoctoral scholars and faculty.
